4. Background: Roadrunners Internationale is an organization composed of a group of people who worked on several sensitive projects vital to the defense of the United States. From the late 1950's through 1970 members of the U.S. Air Force, Lockheed Aircraft Company, and other civilian vendors worked as a closely knit group on special projects at specific locations, often under unique circumstances. In the Fall of 1970, Colonel Maynard Amundson, USAF Retired, (since deceased) and several friends met at his home in Las Vegas to discuss getting together with the "old group". The first reunion of Roadrunners Internationale, a result of that meeting, was held in 1973 at the Union Plaza in Las Vegas. (For further information see attachments.)

5. Miscellaneous: Since the evening of the 21st is the heavyweight fight between Michael Spinks and Larry Holmes at the Riviera Hotel, you will see a great deal of media activity in Las Vegas.
